

THANKSGIVING AGAIN SHOWING JEWELRY ORE

One of Manhattan's Pioneer Properties
Making a Promise of Heavy Production In Near Future.

The good work continues at the Thanksgiving, and there is, apparently, no limit to the possibilities of this wonderful property.

The drift north from the shaft on the 425-foot level is showing a decided improvement and gives promise of equaling, if not surpassing, other portions of the mine, in both productiveness and in values. Within the past few days the formation has become less broken and much more regular in its course, while the vein is assuming larger proportions.

Work was started during the week, says the Manhattan Mail, on an upraise from the 350-foot level and a body of ore has already made its appearance in these workings. A former management undertook this work during its regime, but was unfortunate in going the wrong way, their work taking them away from the ore.

The jewelry department of the mine at present is found in the upraise from the 425-foot level, which is now up about sixty-five feet vertically, but some ten feet or so more, following the ore on its dip. In this, the vein has varied from a few inches to two feet or more, and no difficulty is experienced in distinguishing the particles of yellow metal in the rock before you.

Two assays of note were made from samples taken across the ledge during the week and no effort made to obtain particularly high grade samples; one gave a return of $784, the other swelling this amount two dollars. It does not require very much of this sort of stuff to make one feel that he is on the high way to a fortune.

Sinking has not been commenced owing to the difficulty experienced in getting fuel, which is a serious problem, as the property is equipped with a steam plant and requires about three cords for daily consumption when sinking. Two contracts have been let for wood and so soon as the quantity on hand will warrant, a start will be made toward putting the shaft down another hundred feet or more.

MORPHINE USED TO AN ALARMING EXTENT NOW

BOSTON, March 15.—More than 10 per cent of American doctors habitually take morphine, usually by means of the hypodermic syringe, and one-third of the doctors in foreign countries do the same, declares Dr. William F. Boos, expert toxicologist at the Massachusetts General hospital, Boston. Moreover, trained nurses and the wives of physicians are addicted to the use of morphine to an alarming extent, he continues.

"All long-term prisoners in our penal institutions," he adds, "are users of morphine or cocaine. How do they get it? Here is a beautiful chance to cure them, yet it is neglected. There has been an attempt to introduce hashish—the king of all drugs—into this country. Hashish is more deadly than cocaine, as it arouses the murderous spirit in man. Its terrible character is proved by the fact that the French and English word assassin, as it is spelled either way, signifies in India one who is addicted to hashish. When a person in India wishes to get rid of an enemy he provides a man ready to do the work with hashish, and the ruffian will commit murder while under the influence of the drug without any compunction whatever.

"It leaves men and women dull and mentally depressed. In some cases the action of the heart is impaired. In one hospital I know of they are all users of morphine—the doctors, the nurses and all other attaches. The hypodermic syringe is used altogether too freely by the physicians on their patients as well as on themselves, and that is, in consequence, the source of widespread and untold misery.

"The syringe should rarely be used on patients by a doctor. It is the favorite method because of its quicker action, but it would be far better to give morphine through the mouth in most cases, while about ten minutes is required for it to take effect medicinally."

GAMBLING BILL DEFEATED DURING LENGTHY SESSION

CARSON CITY, Nev., March 15.—A lengthy night session last night completed much important business. The most interesting was the defeat in the assembly of the Fitzgerald gambling bill, making card playing for money or other valuable consideration a misdemeanor instead of a felony.

The Jones bill, defining residence as "personal presence in the state for six months prior to commencement of the action," passed the assembly. An amendment was tacked on that, in emergency cases, "residents" may be permitted to go away from the state providing they return immediately when the emergency has vanished. Assemblyman Bradshaw of Esmeralda county, however, moved for reconsideration, which is taken by some to mean that the bill will be killed.

pathon. Experts say that the actual experience is usually not extremely painful. It is like the pulling of a tooth—the end, reached almost simultaneously with the beginning.

"But the days and nights of waiting are equivalent, perhaps, to many deaths, whereas the law has exacted but one death.

"The theory that the law punishes is an obsolescent one, and will be quite abandoned when a higher condition of kindness and intelligence prevails. The law may have a right to say that a man may not live; but it requires a wholly sinister kind of logic to show that the law or any other earthly power has a right to make any human being suffer. Suffering may sometimes be inevitable, but that should be because it cannot be eliminated.

"The man who is imprisoned should be given the best possible opportunity to work out his moral salvation. The man who must be put to death conceding that the thing is never right or necessary, should be killed mercifully.

The Nevada idea may be a step in the right direction. Though, unless the prisoner may be made to believe that he has received the fatal draught surreptitiously it is likely, after all, that he might look forward with equal terror to the hemlock and to the noose."

MURRAY HORSE SHOW.

NEW YORK, March 15.—Preparations for the big horse show to be held at Murray April 3 are just about complete. A committee is at work, with W. H. Stout of Holladay as chairman. Horsemen from all over the state are being notified and the greater part are sending word that they will be at the show, every horse that is brought to the town will be well taken care of. An effort is being made to have all the districts of the state represented at the show.

VALDEZ CAMP SAYS DREDGING WILL PAY BIG

VALDEZ, Alaska, March 15.—More than 7000 acres of placer ground was staked on the Valdez flats last week. From early morning until the last flicker of daylight remains these placer enthusiasts can be seen scouring the low ground to the north of the camp testing the gravel for colors. One association alone is credited with having secured 2800 acres for dredging purposes.

Despite the recent rich quartz strikes, there remain a large number who hold that Valdez will become an immense dredging field, and it is these who are making an effort to tie up every available acre of what is deemed auriferous gravel.

A second impetus was given the placer prospect when on a late boat a local association received word from some California dredging company that its representative would shortly be ready to give the field an exhaustive test, and if the owners of the ground could show less than half of the values they believe the gravel to contain, their ground will soon be running over the amalgam plates of a huge dredger.

It is a significant fact that the territory at present being staked was located for the same purpose nearly a decade ago. At that time dredgers had not reached their present-day efficiency and the locators allowed title to lapse, feeling that it was too low grade to prove profitable. As a consequence of these wholesale locations, the local recorder's office is deluged with work.
